The wolf of starvation howls at the doors of thousands of men who are well to do and surrounded by plenty. Ill-health, in the majority of cases, is starvation, pure and simple. It means that body, brain, nerve, bone and sinew are improperly or insufficiently nourished. Improper, insufficient nourishment is starvation.

When a man's head aches it is because the tissues of the brain do not receive sufficient nourishment from the blood, or receive impure and unhealthy nourishment. When a man gets nervous and sleepless, it means that the blood is not properly nourishing the nerves. When his skin breaks out with blotches and pimples and eruptions, it means that the skin is being fed upon the impurities of the blood. Almost every known disease is primarily due to improper nourishment through the blood, which is the life-stream. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the greatest of all blood-makers and purifiers. It gives edge to the appetite, corrects all disorders of the digestion, makes the assimilation of the life-giving elements of the food perfect, invigorates the liver, promotes secretion and excretion, and vitalizes the whole body. It makes firm, muscular flesh, but does not make corpulent people more corpulent. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of lingering coughs, bronchitis, throat and kindred affections, which, if neglected, lead up to consumption. It is the best of all nerve tonics and restoratives. Kept by all medicine dealers.

"I was taken ill in February, 1892, with head-ache and pain in my back," writes H. Gaddis, Esq., of 313 South J Street, Tacoma, Wash. "I called in a doctor and he came three times. He said I was bilious but I kept getting worse; I took a cough so that I could not sleep, only by being propped up in bed. My lungs hurt me, and I got so poor that I was just skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I used one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it made me sound and well. It saved my life."

No remedy relieves constipation so quickly and effectively as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They never gripe.

A Ghoulish Superstition.

A rumor got about in a village in Russia, not far from the German frontier, that the corpse of a woman who had recently been buried had turned in the coffin. Everybody in the village not only believed the rumor, but ascribed the prevailing drought as the cause. A village council was held, and it was decided that the husband of the woman should have the coffin opened and the body replaced in its original position. The husband, however, promptly refused, and nothing could persuade him to yield to the unanimous wish of his fellow villagers, whereupon the latter took the matter in their own hands and went to the churchyard to dig up and open the coffin. To their great surprise the body lay in its original position. Their astonishment was not lessened when the legal authorities appeared on the scene and opened an inquiry, with a view of imposing punishment for the desecration of the grave.

The whole neighborhood was possessed with the idea that newly buried persons were to blame for the prevalence of the dry weather, for in another village, not far off, a grave was opened and the coffin unscrewed to pour water on the corpse. The benighted peasants of this village were of the opinion that this was the best way to induce the clerk of the weather to supply them with much needed rain.

A Sharp Swindler.

A fashionable young lady not long ago drove up in a handsome carriage to a private lunatic asylum, situated a few miles from Paris, and requested to see the proprietor. Her wish being acceded to, she informed the doctor that she desired to place her husband under his care to see if a cruel mania under which he labored—viz, "that he had lost a large quantity of jewels"—could not be removed.

After some hesitation the doctor consented, and the lady drove away directly to a jeweler's in Paris and selected jewels to the value of several thousand francs and requested one of the shopmen to go with her in her carriage to procure the money for the goods she had taken. She drove with him to the asylum, and, arriving there, he was shown into a room.

The lady then sought the doctor, told him of the arrival of her husband, and getting into her carriage again drove away. The rest may be imagined, but the poor fellow was confined several days before it was found they both had been "sold." The lady was never heard of after.

Knew His Time.

"A ragged boy about 10 years old," says a correspondent of the Detroit Free Press, "sat on the fence in front of an Arkansas cabin, and just as I came up his mother came to the door and called 'Moses!' in a loud voice. The boy did not look around, and after a minute she called 'Abraham!' He made no move, and I was asking him how far it was to Greenville when she put out her head and called 'Luke!' He did not appear to hear and had answered me that it was seven miles when the mother raised her voice still higher and shouted 'Mark!'"

"Your mother is calling you," I said, as he paid no attention.

"No, not me," he replied.

"But who, then?"

"My brothers over in the woods. She's called for Moses, Abraham, Luke and Mark. She'll call for F. Hietus, Jeremiah, Judas and Abel, and if they don't come she'll yell out for Ananias, and that'll mean me, and, I'll jump."

Settle It.

He (a suitor)—Grammarians have never been quite sure of the proper distinction between "I shall" and "I will." But to my mind there is no difficulty.

She—I don't quite know the distinction myself.

He—Thinking he sees his opportunity—Well, take the question, "Will you marry me?" Supposing I ask you, your reply would be not "I will," but—

She—(emphatically)—I won't—Jud.

A CROSS ON HIS BACK.

It Was Made With Chalk, but Was Too Heavy to Carry.

There is a story of an envious tailor current with the French peasantry. He fancied that his neighbor, who received a pension for the loss of an arm incurred while fighting for his country, was better off than himself. Both men went to pay their rent on the same day.

"That's a lucky man," said the tailor to the landlord. "He gets well paid for his arm."

"But who would be willing to part with an arm, even if he were paid for it?" said the landlord.

"I would," declared the tailor.

"You!" cried the landlord. "Why, man, you wouldn't be willing to bear anything of the sort, no matter how much you were paid for it."

"I wish some one would try me,"

"Now, see here," said the landlord, who had studied human nature, "I'll tell you what, if you'll wear even so much as a chalk mark on your back I'll remit your rent as long as you wear it on your coat so it can be seen, the condition being that you tell no one why it is there."

"Agreed," said the tailor eagerly. "That's an easy way to pay rent!"

So the chalk mark in the form of a cross was made on the back of his coat, and the delighted landlord sallied forth upon the street.

Strangers and acquaintances hailed him to tell him of the mark on his back. Jokes were made at his expense, children laughed and pointed at him, and his wife annoyed him with questions and with conjugal familiarity told him he was a fool. The usually amiable man grew surly and morose; he shunned men, women and children and frequented back streets. Before the week was up the tailor found himself embroiled in a quarrel with his best friend, his wife had threatened to leave his house and he considered himself miserable and ill used.

Finally, one night he took off his coat and rubbed out the chalk mark and said: "There! I would not wear that cross on my back another week, no, not if I could have all the money there is in Paris!"—Youth's Companion.

SHAVING A DEAD MAN.

A Job That Occupied an Impoverished Artist About a Week.

"I have just finished shaving a dead man," said a local artist. "The job occupied me about a week and a half. 'Good heavens!' ejaculate a horrified friend, 'what d'ye mean?' 'Don't be alarmed,' replied the artist calmly. 'The operation was not as repulsive as you may imagine. In fact, I performed it with a brush. You see, a certain family of my acquaintance have a large oil painting of the head of the house, who departed from this vale of tears some time in the early eighties. At the time the portrait was made he wore a full beard, which was contrary to his usual custom, and the family, who remember him best with a smooth face, have been anxious ever since to get off the whiskers. I was engaged to shave the portrait, and hard times and approaching rent day persuaded me to accept the commission, which, needless to say, was highly antipathetic to my artistic instincts."

"I had to depend entirely on the recollection of the family for my data, and I found, to my alarm, that each member had retained a different impression of the old gentleman's chin. One claimed it was double and another insisted that it was sharp and clean cut; a daughter described it as 'square and determined,' and the widow assured me privately that it was shaped like the prow of an armored cruiser. Altogether I found myself in a daze of a fix. It was no trouble to take off the whiskers; I did that in three fell swoops; but when I blocked out the jaw experimentally and called in the crowd for suggestions, there was a grand chorus of protest. Strange to say, I pleased nobody, and I have been correcting, amending, remodeling and doing it all over again ever since. One point of dispute was the location of a wart, which half the family said was on the left and half on the right. I finally effected a compromise by painting in two warts, one on each side. I got my fee all right, but before I take another tumblerful I'll go to driving a trolley car."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Curious Funeral Custom.

In Switzerland death is attended by a custom which calls upon all charitable and Christian people to show their sympathy. A notice edged with a wide black line appears in the daily papers setting forth the day and hour when sympathizers must assemble before the house of the deceased. At the time named a little cloth covered table, supporting a glass of sized jar, is stood before the house, table, cloth and jar all being of a somber, ebony hue, and into the latter small mourning cards, bearing the name and address of their owners, are deposited. The day the funeral takes place is the day selected for the exhibition of the jar. No ladies are allowed to follow at a Swiss funeral.

Unexpected.

"Why, Clara," said a mother to her little daughter, who was crying, "what are you crying about?"

"O-cause," sobbed the little miss, "I started to make dolly a b-bonnet, and it c-came out b-bloomers!"—Trained Motherhood.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1900

WE NEED INDIVIDUALITY.

There is not anything so much needed by the people as a proper use of individuality, which includes a fearless exercise of their judgment upon public matters. The chief trouble in Nevada is and has been a failure by the people to declare and insist upon the rights that are a heritage to the race. There is not anything that would benefit the State so much as a declaration of "backbone." Were it possible to infuse into our make-up the active courage of a dozen Boers, the State would in the future be ruled by the people, and Wallace in active work, with those who work with him, would cease to humiliate and degrade the people.

Could our courage be made active, as Boer courage is active in the defense of their liberties and rights, Wallace and his gang would be looking in the near future for a job. Many of them have had soft positions until they have concluded that the money paid by the people in taxes is their property, which they guard with jealous care, to be disposed of in their interest and for their support.

The personal interest of the people in the disposition of the spoils of office is very little, but they should take sufficient individual interest in the expenditure of the money they furnish to prevent its use in a way and for purposes that cause bad government. The object of taxation is to defray the expense of good government by the people. Should the people take lessons from Charley Wallace and the Central Pacific in government there would be a change that would represent and protect their interests, which are the interests of the State at large.

There is complaint made by the whole people in some form, except by the gang, about the Central Pacific and Charley Wallace governing the State, which is the matter to which we direct attention when it is said the people should take lessons from the Central Pacific. The railroad is satisfied with the government of the State because it is governed in its interest and for it, and the rights the people have represented in the government of the State is a right to live and toil to procure money to pay exorbitant fares and freights and largely support a government for the protection of the property rights of the railroad company.

What do our readers conclude about what is said? Is what has been said true, or is it false? It is for you to determine. If it is not true that the Central Pacific is satisfied with our State government, will you furnish an answer to an additional test of satisfaction by it, and that is: The railroad pays a man who is experienced as a boss in all the villainy of politics as managed in the interest of organized capital, who in turn disposes of the emoluments of office to maintain a gang to aid him to keep the government of the State as it is. Why is it so?

The cause of the railroad's approval of its rotten system of government rests in the fact that it is the government of the State represented by Charles I., by the grace of the Central Pacific, king of Nevada, and being the sole government of the State, it is administered exclusively to its interest and in its interest only.

There is not a commonwealth occupied by civilized men on the globe who are so fully ignored in matters of self government as the people of Nevada. The emancipated serfs of Russia had rights and have them now that are acknowledged by an absolute government but the people of Nevada have no rights that government by the O. P. railroad acknowledge. The people do not have a right to live, the right to exist is all there is given to railroad serfs in Nevada.

We are American citizens, but what does it profit us to be citizens. The term citizen takes with it certain privileges and rights that Americans are supposed to possess, but when we are deprived of these privileges and rights, chief among which is the right of self government by a foreign corporation whose railroad line passes over our State, of what value are these rights to us who live in Nevada and while we are railroad serfs and have the railroad serf lash applied to us by an unconscionable railroad political boss in the form of threats and attacks made personally upon those who are obnoxious to the boss and his gang of understrappers whose personal intellectual force comes within the line of mediocrity.

The JOURNAL when reviewing this class has said that they were enemies to the State and if enemies to the State are enemies to the people. One cause stated in review was that the gang were in favor of keeping the State where it has been and now is at this time, for political purposes.

The whole work of Wallace and his gang is to keep the State where it is in matters of government, which is government by the railroad, for the railroad and against the people and their individual and collective interests.

The railroad desires no change that might cause the Nevada railroad bridge to take on any of the adornment that comes from a happy and industrious people who are in the full enjoyment of their natural and acquired rights.

A change in the government of the State would of a necessity include prosperity because a change will demand that the government be administered according to law which will require the Central Pacific to pay taxes upon its property as the poor now pay taxes upon their property and the tax-rate that now excludes capital and enterprise from the State will be reduced.

The chief object Wallace and the gang have in view in political work at this time is to prevent any change in the rate of taxation because a change in the rule of assessment which is as now enforced against law will include prosperity to the state.

The people of the State desire a change in the rule of taxation and to effect their purpose they must rise to the requirements there are upon them which requirements are included in a more positive individual.

PERSONALS.

H. H. Beck has returned from a business trip to Carson Valley.

Mrs. Richard Ryland and son left last night for San Francisco where they will remain a month or so on account of the young man's health.

Ben Noonan arrived from Santa Rosa yesterday. He will ship some more cattle in a few days.

Major Spriggs is up from the reservation.

Editor Lamy of the Gardnerville Record is in Reno on a business trip.

Miss Hattie Reiser, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. L. Williams, left last night for San Francisco.

T. B. Ricker, the Mono county cattle magnate, registered at the Riverside hotel yesterday.

H. H. Hunter, a mining man of San Jose, is spending a few days in this city.

A Good Program Prepared.

The Wheelmen's entertainment to be given Friday night is bound to be a success if the interest manifested within the last few days can be taken as a criterion.

The program committee is outdoing itself and is deserving of special praise for the pains it has taken.

What promises to be an interesting feature of the entertainment is the six round boxing exhibition scheduled to take place between E. M. Ringer and Gus Hilyer, both members of the club. This promises to be one of the most scientific sparring exhibitions seen in Reno for many moons. Both men have had considerable experience and are many notches above the novice class. Mr. Ringer has defeated several men in California clubs, and Mr. Hilyer is an eastern man.

Private Enterprise.

It will be remembered that some time ago Richard Ryland and others petitioned the Commissioners to have an artesian well bored in Riverside park.

On motion of Mr. Hymers the petition was granted on the proviso that a contractor would take the contract for beginning at the bottom of the well and boring upwards.

Mr. Ryland has started a well now on his own hook. George Pettigrew and crew began work yesterday on Ryland street, near Virginia. They will sink to the second flow, which they believe to be about 150 feet below the surface.

The water will be free to all and will be extensively used in the hot season when the hydrant water deteriorates.

BREVITIES.

The board of County Commissioners were in session yesterday. One hundred and fifty jurors were drawn.

O. H. Mack is the agent for the National Surety Company. He bonds the officers of the Ancient Order of Foresters in the said company.

Harry Davis has the finest supply of stationary and other school supplies in Reno. All the leading magazines, cigars and tobacco. Agency for Trilby shoe polish.

Gone to Missouri.

George Strohsider, a former University student and a resident of Mason Valley, passed through town Sunday on his way to Missouri where he intends joining his brother in business.

They Spoke the Vows.

James Byrns, Jr., a well to do farmer, and Miss Estella May Gillian, both of Paradise, were married last evening at the Riverside hotel.

Sunderland's Store.

John Sunderland will have an interesting announcement in to-morrow's issue. It will pay our readers to watch for it.

University Notes

Charley Shoer met with a painful accident last Monday while at work in the carpenter shop. His left hand was in some manner caught in the belting of a lathe. Two fingers were badly injured. The doctor says it will be two weeks before Charley will have the use of the injured hand.

The track committee is at work making preparations for the spring contests. Arrangements are under way to secure a trainer at once. It is the general belief that with Paul Moorman as captain the team will make a good showing. It is understood that the Stanford team will be here early in March and a return game will be played soon thereafter.

The Junior election of officers will take place Thursday.

The Independent Association held a business meeting in the reading room of Lincoln Hall yesterday.

Baseball interest is being revived. The baseball committee held a meeting yesterday afternoon, and preparations were made to put a good team in the field to compete with all comers.

We are glad to note that Bob Steiner, after being confined to his room for the past few days, is again on the campus.

Wm. (our own dear fatty) Hunter has proven himself a star collector as well as football player. Preparations are underway to present him with a leather medal.

The "Artemesia" staff has decided on offering two prizes (first and second) for the best fifteen kodak pictures of college life. The contest will close February 1st and is open to all students.

Dr. Phillips was on the links yesterday.

SENIORS PASS RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS—The recent difficulties at the University have caused the resignation of our esteemed Professor, Robert Dyas Jackson, be it therefore

RESOLVED—That we, the senior students of the School of Mines, do hereby express our sincere regrets at the resignation of Professor Jackson.

That in the retirement of Professor Jackson the school of mines and the University at large have sustained an incalculable loss and injury

That we fully endorse the action of our professor and hope that in the near future he may be vindicated in the eyes of all thoughtful men and may soon reap the reward of gratitude due him for his substantial favors to the University and his untiring efforts in the interest of his classes.

STUMBLING BLOCKS OUT

OF THE DOCTOR'S PATH

Stubbs and Huntington Have Won a Skirmish but the Battle Is Yet to Be Fought.

With feelings of profound disgust we chronicle the fact that yesterday the Board of Regents of the Nevada State University removed Dr. Phillips from his position and accepted the resignation of Prof. Jackson.

Favorable comment on their action has been made as follows:

Origin of the Dolly.

From the name of Robert D'Oyley originated the word dolly. A grant of land was given to him in the reign of William of Normandy on condition that he should give yearly a tablecloth of at least 3 shillings' value at the feast of St. Michael.

According to the custom of the times, the women of his family were skillful with the needle and felt great pride in embroidering their "quit rent tablecloths." In time these cloths came to be valuable and were used as napkins at the royal table. They were called "D'Oyleys."

A Sugar Plum.

"I had my picture taken today," said little Christine. "I crossed my arms and leaned on a chair, and the picture man put my head in some tongs."

"Why, you must have looked like a lump of sugar in sugar tongs," laughed papa.

"Why, so I must have," said Christine delightedly, "because the man kept saying, 'What a sweet girl you are!'"
